Introduction

IN imagination we find ourselves in the northern part of England about one hundred fifty-five or one hundred sixty years ago, enjoying the beautiful scenery and air of Gunnerside Swaledale, which is one of the grandest of the Yorkshire dales.

Only the simplest of sounds are heard, the lowing of cattle, the bleating of sheep, and now and then the crow of a cock in the distance and the answer near by.

As we stand on the bank of the river Swale we see pastures, enclosed by stone fences, darkened by exposure, with a stile here and there, made by large flat stones, projecting from each side so arranged that one can pass through only by making a very careful "S."

We stroll along slowly, loth to leave this romantic spot, until in our rambles we come to Lodge Green, the home of William Woodward, our ancestor, a miner with a family of seven: William, John, Thomas, James, Ruth, Martha and Mary.

We pass a few hours with the family and drink a cup of tea with them, then are directed to Calvert House, where the second son, John, resides with his wife, Ann or Nancy Broderick, and their children, Elizabeth, William, Mary, Ann and John.

Spring End, the home of Nancy Broderick and later her son, William Woodward, was an entailed estate and has been in the possession of the Broderick family over three hundred years, so through the Broderick ancestors we can trace our connection back to the fifteenth century.

William Woodward, second son of John and Ann Broderick Woodward, lived with his wife, Nancy Calvert, whom he married May 26th, 1807, at Spring End, until 1833 when they decided to emigrate to America with their family. Three of their children were married, the son, John and his wife, Ruth Watters, with three children, Nancy, Mary and William, decided to come with them, also the eldest daughter, Ann, the wife of Joseph Daykin and their two children, John and William. One other daughter, Betsey, bride of a few weeks of Joseph Brunskill cast their lot with the rest.

After bidding dear friends good-bye and taking a farewell look at old Spring End, where they had lived twenty-six years, they started for Liverpool, arriving there the last of April. They embarked on the sail boat George Washington and in a short time were ready for the long voyage.

Finally, when the tide was in, the boat set sail and as they stood gazing at the shore they heard the strains of their national anthem "God save the King." Darkness fell the music died away and when they awoke next morning nothing could be seen of dear old England.

After a tiresome journey of six weeks they landed in New York on June eleventh. (1833).

The change to canal boat was most welcome, for there was something to see besides water, and the younger ones could walk at times along the tow path.

At Buffalo they took a Lake Erie boat plying between Buffalo and Cleveland, Ohio. Arriving at Cleveland they once more took up their weary way on the Ohio canal to Akron.

Here they loaded their household goods on an ox-cart. This was more than filled, so the whole party was obliged to walk, each carrying his bundle, with the exception of the mothers with young babies, who took turns riding.

Imagine them, weary from their tedious journey, plodding along a strange road, dusty and footsore, for twelve long miles.

At last, unexpected, they reached the home of John Bell, situated in Sharon, Medina County, Ohio, in July, 1833.

What must have been the feeling of William Woodward upon arriving to find that his sister, Ann Woodward Bell, had gone to her home above.

Her husband was very poor and told them there was nothing to eat in the house, so after all the hard journey and grief at the loss of Ann Bell, they went supperless to bed.

Next day brought relief for good kind neighbors, learning of the arrival of these English families, came with filled baskets and provided for them.

In a short time each of the four men, William Woodward, his son, John, and his sons-in-law, Joseph Daykin and Joseph Burnskill, had bought twenty-five acres of land and built their log houses. Elno Woodward, great grandson of William, still owns the homestead, on the site of the log cabin built by William Woodward. These log homes were built in Sharon, or the English settlement, so called on account of the large number of English families living in that part of the township.

This is the beginning of the Woodward family in America. There are ten living descendants bearing his name, Elno Woodward, his sister, Lena, and one son, John. John Woodward, has two little daughters, Mary Elizabeth and Barbara Ann. Harold M. Woodward, his son, Harold B., his brother and sister, Don C. and Laura, all of Sharon, Ohio, and Frank Woodward of Phoenix, Arizona.

About six hundred descendants are named in the genealogy scattered over the United States: North, South, East and West, even to Alaska, a great number took the advice of Horace Greeley and "Went West," only one living east of Ohio, he being located in Washington, D. C.

The first reunion held at the home of Mary Gargett, Heikley, Ohio, August 23, 1895

*We are loyal to each other
Reaching forth a helping hand
That the wavering may be strengthened
And the weak ones made to stand.
So we'll work to help our brother
Make the way of life more bright
Move the stones from out his pathway
Help to make his burden light.*

*We are loyal to our family ties
'Tis to us a binding tie
Closer draw this bond of friendship
Closer draw until we die
Then our circle still unbroken,
Round the great white throne we'll meet
And with songs of glad salvation
Again our loved ones, we will greet.*

Foreword

IN 1795 we find that William Woodward lived at Lodge Green, Gunnerside, Parish of Grinton Yorkshire.

John, his second son, married Nancy Broderick (sometimes called Ann).

Their son, William, married Nancy Calvert, and it was these two, who, with their family, came to America and established the family of which we are all so proud to be a part.

Emmon S. OviattMary A. Oviatt

THE printing of this genealogy has been made possible by a gift from Emmon S. Oviatt, given as a memorial to his wife, Mary A. Oviatt. It was through his efforts that the balance of the sum necessary was raised, through subscriptions by other members of the association.

The historical work since Mrs. Barber's death has been done by her daughter, Gertrude E. Merrick.

Myrtle Gargett Greenlese and Mrs. Merrick have collaborated on the compiling and preparation for printing.

Key to Genealogy

WILLIAM WOODWARD of Lodge Green is the first one we have any record of and we call his the first generation. His son, John, belongs to the second generation. John's son, William, the third generation, our ancestor, who, with his family, emigrated to America. His children married and established the different branches of the family, as we know them, which for convenience sake we have numbered.

Family Number One—John and Ruth Woodward.

Family Number Two—Joseph and Ann Daykin.

Family Number Three—Joseph and Betsy Brunskill.

Family Number Four—William and Nancy Watters.

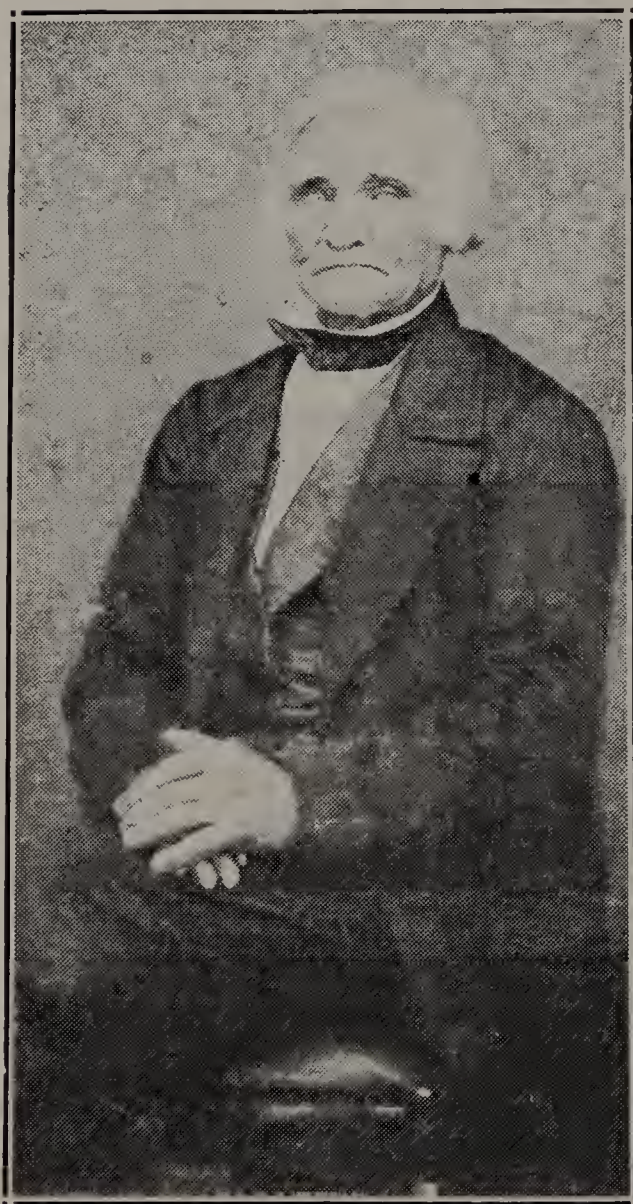

Family Number Five—John and Mary Gargett.

Family Number Six—Collin and Margaret Ferriman.

Family Number Seven—George and Ruth Watters.

George and Ruth Watters Ingham.

The children born to the originators of the various branches are designated by letters, viz—A, B, C, and so on. The descendants of the child A, Family One, are carried on through to the present. Then the descendants of child B, Family One, are carried on to the present, and so on, until each child and his descendants are recorded. Then Family Number Two is taken up and carried through in the same manner and so on until the entire history of the seven branches is complete.

Golden Weddings

SIX Golden Weddings have been happily celebrated in our family. How pleasant the memory will be to those who were privileged to attend one of these happy affairs which are so unusual.

Hiram and Mary Ann Rounds were married March 29, 1858, and celebrated their fifty third wedding anniversary.

Emmon S. and Mary A. Oviatt, married May 16, 1864, were privileged to spend sixty two years together.

Thomas and Joana Woodward were married November 30, 1865, and celebrated their fifty first anniversary.

Charles and Lavina Watters, whose wedding was November 16, 1870, celebrated fifty seven anniversaries.

George Edward and Altha Woodward, who were married February 29, 1872, spent nearly fifty three years together.

✓ William and Jennie Martin, married September 11, 1878, have been married fifty one years at this writing and we hope they will celebrate their diamond wedding.

Memoriam

*They never quite leave us, the friends who have passed
Through the valley of shadows to sunlight above
A thousand bright memories are holding them fast.
To places they blest with their presence and love.*

*The average life's work stretched o'er many long years
Records of joy and good deeds done on the way,
How useless its joys would seem, how idle our tears,
If living were all of life, no hope our strength to stay.*

*We a family with Christian faith need have no fear
God alone knows the signal hour, the better way.
He calls them home, our loved ones dear,
It is not death, they are only away.*
